If there is a characteristic of the American people which is pre-eminently American it is quick, determined and courageous action. Nothing can be more befitting than that the leader of the nation should have this quality in great degree, that he may be an intelligent example to his people and his party. The Democratic executive stands approved of all men to-day simply because he has done his duty and feared not, as an American and an honest man. Liberal newspapers of both parties openly commend his action in the strike trouble and all must respect his attitude toward tariff reform. He has stood firmly to the platform of his party. President Cleveland, it is reported, has expressed himself as in favor of a tariff bill similar to the Wilson bill, for he believes such a bill to be in the interests of the party. Let the great majority of the Democratic Congress take a leaf out of Mr. Cleveland's book and refuse to surrender anything of tariff reform.

A ROLLING stone gathers no moss either in business, or in politics or in Hunterstown.

THE Star and Sentinel, in its blind partisanism, has utterly failed to appreciate the momentous problem threatening the government. Rather than support a Democratic President, who, by his promptness and firmness in suppressing rioting and anarchy, has won the applause of a patriotic people without distinction to party, it has chosen to refer to Mr. Cleveland in the following language:

"He shrinks from carrying out the contract, when squarely confronted with the crisis, dreadful as he finds it to be; and he proposes now, in 1894, to shoot the men whose votes he publicly angled for, with Socialistic bait, in 1892."

This is the language of a Socialistic organ. It proves the utter incapacity of the Star and Sentinel to give a fair, unbiased judgment on any political question. The narrowness of its political soul is astounding in this age of light and liberality. It would have the government subverted and society destroyed to benefit its party. While all progressive newspapers, without political distinction, are supporting and commending the President's action, the Star and Sentinel is hammering away in bitter criticisms, hoping, perhaps, to make a vote or two because Mr. Cleveland happens to be the Chief Executive. Nothing other than littleness of mind, feebleness of judgment, or blindness of partizanism could suggest the editorial of last week to the mind of the editor of the Star.

AN end has come of Debs as an end comes of all men who have as their aim in life the gratification of their own selfish ambitious.

THE men who marched up the street the other day on their way to Washington, to petition Congress for aid, ought to have been the object of pity rather than derision. These men were not tramps but workmen. Among them there were bright, intelligent, and some good faces, like those of man who labor. They did not look like lazy men nor tramps. They are deluded, mistaken men perhaps, but seemingly earnest. They were out of work and money, and took to a cause through which they believed that their condition would be bettered. Their mistake is but natural. Workingmen began to notice that industries and capitalists were protected at Washington, with or without reason. It is not extraordinary that these men should believe that if they went to Washington, they, too, would be protected. It is time, however, that they have discovered that the party which has been making laws for this country during the past decade is not the party of the working man. If these men will march to the polls as they are marching to Washington, thinking rather of good laws than of unreasonable protection, they will gain much more.

These men are in a pitiable condition and our country is in a pitiable condition, when it cannot supply work in sufficient amount to employ all of its citizens at fair wages.

THE railway strike is at an end. Every one has acknowledged its failure, except DEBS, and DEBS is only trying to find some way to extricate himself from the wreck. It had its beginning in the personal ambition of a few desperate schemers, and it will justly end in their destruction. The incalculable loss and suffering they have caused will fall heaviest on those who accepted their blind leadership, but there will be compensation even for this if workingmen everywhere will only take to heart the plain lesson of this disastrous strike.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S management of the recent strike situation is a source of great satisfaction, not only to the people, but especially to Democrats. Politics, in the sense of party, are out of place in the consideration of such serious questions as anarchy and rebellion, but that does not lessen, indeed rather increases the pride which Democrats have in the President. The principles of the Democratic party are the principles upon which the greatness of this country will become still greater and be preserved. Mr. Cleveland is the exponent of them. Let Democrats take just pride in their party and in their President and do their best to continue the policy of the party for the general good.

Weeds by the Wayside.

"The borders along the public highways and country roads are too often the seed-beds of noxious weeds. This is often the case also along the railroads. Along the latter the passing freight cars are constantly jolting off and distributing injurious weedseeds from remote places. This evil is increasing each year, and the adjacent fields show the bad effects. During the present season in Maryland the fields have been dotted with the common white daisies to an extent that actually threatens the crowding out of the grasses and clovers in the meadows. In Baltimore county there are roads where the sow-thistle, teasle, wild carrot and many other noxious weeds are annually allowed to grow in rank profusion. The winds and birds are among the agencies that distribute weedseeds over the country, and year by year they are gaining a strong foothold at the expense of the crops. In some States there are county laws which require the roadsides and fence-corners to be kept clear of weeds. Such laws are of great benefit and materially assist the farmer to keep his fields free from weeds." The above is from the Baltimore Sun.

In Pennsylvania the laws are sufficient to prevent the spread of the worst of weeds, the Canada thistle. Naturally a farmer does not like to have trouble with his neighbor nor with the constables or supervisors of his township, but the community must be protected. If a man is known to have Canada thistle on his place, who does not keep it down as well as he is able, let the law take its course. That the entire extermination of this plant is almost impossible has come to be a recognized fact, yet its spread can be obviated by cutting and smothering. The law imposes a fine of $15 on the owner of land and $10 on constables and supervisors who neglect or refuse to perform their duties under the act,

THERE is more harm to the people, more desecration of the Battlefield in using the "field" as a Sunday picnic ground, or in using its attractions in such manner as to destroy the sanctity of the Sabbath, than in all the electric railroads which could be run over it.

Let Senators Represent the People.

The resolution of Mr. Tucker relating to the election of Senators, will probably soon be presented to the House of Representatives, with a favorable report of the committee. In order to become effective this bill must receive the vote of two-thirds or the members of each House of Congress and then must be ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the States or by conventions in three-fourths of the States. The proposed amendment provides that upon the expiration of the terms of the present Senators their successors shall be elected by a direct vote of the people in the several States.

As at present constituted the Senators, many of them, represent neither the people of the States nor the Legislatures, but themselves only. Instead of being elected by the Legislatures are often selected by them. Instead of receiving their instructions from the Legislatures, the reverse is the case. Members of the State Legislature are selected not with a view to attending to the proper and constitutional duties of the place, but to vote for this or that boss or the man Friday of this or that boss for the Senate.

In Pennsylvania, with its eighty thousand Republican majority, a Republican convention would be very slow to put Quay on the ticket.

ANY person erecting and maintaining a public watering trough along any highway, easily accessible to horses and cattle, can under a law of 1886 draw $5 a year from the county treasury. All such troughs must be confined to a length of road not less than five miles, and be so constructed as to accommodate horses and cattle with safety for those in charge of them. No pay will be granted for more than one fountain on a five-mile length of road, though any person may erect a trough who chooses to do it as a public benefit. When this law is more generally understood, there will be such troughs on every five miles of road in Pennsylvania.—Ex.

IF a man does one thing well it is altogether likely he can do another in like manner. Mr. Singerly has managed the Record well and would be a good man for Governor of Pennsylvania.

OUR thanks are due Adjutant General Greenland for a copy of his last annual report.

THE TWO PLATFORMS. — There is something instructive in a comparison of the platform adopted by the Pennsylvania Democrats with that of the Republicans. As to the question of the tariff, it was to be expected that they would differ widely and in the way that they do differ. But who would have dared to predict even four years ago that in that great manufacturing and commercial State the time would so soon come when the Democrats would be conservative and sound on finance and the Republicans utterly wrong. This, however, is what has happened. The challenge thrown out by the Republicans by their resolution of a "forty-dollar-per-capita" currency is cheerfully taken up by the Democrats. This is a long step in advance over the practice prevailing a few years since, when, if one party bid for the inflationist vote, the other party generally tried to bid a little higher. Apparently the time has arrived when the shrewdest politicians understand that in the long run honest money will win. The Democratic candidate for Governor, Mr. William M. Singerly, is "entitled to much credit for this happy advance in the opinion of the party."—N. Y. Times.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, July 13, 1894.

Editors of Compiler: President Cleveland and his cabinet are almost swamped with telegrams from every section of the country congratulationg them on the courage and promptness with which they have brought order out of chaos and prevented what at one time looked like it might be a revolution, and volunteering aid to any imaginable extent, in both men and money. The President and his advisers believe that the worst is over, but they none the less feel proud of the confidence reposed in them by Congress and the people and will continue their efforts to deserve that confidence.

It is Speaker Richardson now, if you please, Representative Richardson, of Tenn., having been elected Speaker pro. tem. of the House during the absence of Speaker Crisp, who has been called to Georgia by the serious illness of his brother

The Democrats of the tariff conference committee have held daily meetings this week, and the air is full of rumors each contradictory of the other as to what they have done.

Had the situation not been entirely too grave and important to be laughed at the silly talk of Messrs. Hayes, McGuire and French, members of the Executive committee of the knights of Labor, who are in Washington this week about beginning impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Olney because of the arrest of Debs, would have been regarded as a good joke. As it is it merely gave the intelligent public an opportunity to gauge the caliber of the men who control a once powerful and influential organization and to wonder how they ever managed to get their authority and how long the organization can stand the use they are making of it.

Senator Daniel, of Virginia, in addition to being a state's rights Democrat of the staunchest sort is known among lawyers as an authority upon Constitutional law. His resolution (offered as a substitute to the semi-anarchist resolution offered by Senator Peffer, of Kan, and supported by the populist Senator in one of the most outrageous speeches ever made in the Senate in which the abolition of Congress and the transfer of authority to a committee composed of one member from each state was advocated), endorsing President Cleveland and his administration for the prompt and vigorous measures taken "to repulse and repress by military force the interference of lawless men with the due process of the laws of the U. S., and with commerce among the States" and declaring that "the action of the President and his administration has the full sympathy and support of the law abiding masses of the people of the U. S., and will be supported by all departments of the Government and by the power and resources of the entire nation," would have been immediately adopted by a nearly unanimous vote of the Senate as it was the next day—only Peffer voting against it—had not Senator Gallinger, of N. H., for some unexplained reason caused it to go over a day under the rules by objecting to a vote thereon and refusing to withdraw the objection although he was begged to do so by his Republican colleagues. Speaking of the situation Senator Daniel said: "I am a states rights Democrat, and would be the last man to stand idly by and see the authority of the state encroached upon, but I fail to see anything here that encroaches upon the authority of the State of Illinois in any way. The President is acting entirely within the lines of the constitution, and his action is to be commended by all law abiding citizens, regardless of their political predication or partisan feeling."

This is the way the situation looks to Senator Davis, of Minn., the Republican whose raking down of Peffer will not soon be forgotten: "I have looked into this matter as a lawyer, and my judgement is that the President has gone about this business as a lawyer. He has considered his ground, become acquainted with his authority and powers, and then gone in to exercise them in a righteous cause and for the good of the general public. He has not exceeded his authority one whit; on the contrary, he has not as yet exhausted it. If the federal troops are not sufficient for this emergency the state militia is at his command. The President can swear the militia of the various states into the service of the U. S., and then send them to Chicago or any other point where their mobilization may become necessary. The constitution is broad enough in this case, and the President is intrenched upon it."

DEM.

Where Does the Farmer Come In?

From the Columbia Independent.

In all the commotions that are forward just now there is one important person who is left out of consideration, the American farmer. The public lives on him and by him. Yet he is the last one to receive a thought when ructions are raised in the national and state legislatures for the comfort and advancement of mankind in general and of trusts and politicians in particular. The farmer pays protected prices for his tools, clothes and household goods. Then he sells his product at unprotected rates. Just now a large class of men has combined against him. The railroad hands, without intending any active hurt, have closed the market to his crops, and his vegetables and fruits are, or will soon be, rotting on his hands. This fact brings its own punishment, to be sure, for already, in cities like Chicago, that are under the list of the railroad anarchists, the price of food has gone up and will continue to go up. The ones who will suffer most are the people who have thrown themselves out of work and, having no wages, are unable to supply their families with the necessaries of life.

Eugene V. Debs Arrested.

Eugene V. Debs, President of the American Railway Union; George W. Howard, Vice President; Sylvester Keliher, Secretary; L. W. Rogers, Director and Editor of the Railway Times, and James Mervin, an engineer, who is said to have thrown a switch on the Rock Island Road some time ago, endangering the lives of many persons, were arrested Tuesday afternoon on warrants sworn by the Federal Grand Jury which convened Tuesday at 12 o'clock. The full list of indictments was as follows:

Eugene V. Debs, George W. Howard, Sylvester Keliher, L. W. Rogers, James Mervin, Lloyd Hotchkins, A. Paizybak, H. Elfin, James Hammond, William Smith, John Westerbrook, Edward O'Neil, Charles Nailor, John Duffy, William McMullen, E. Shelby, Fred Ketchem and John W. Doyle.

All, with the exception of the first four named, had been arrested and arraigned before United States Commissioner Hoyne prior to the returning of the indictments and are out on bail in $10,000. They are accused of interfering with the business of the United States, obstructing the mails and also of preventing and hindering the execution of the laws of the United States.

A BREEZE.

The Blue Ridge Zephyr, which reaches us daily, is a good, newsy little paper, and is just the thing for the mountain sojourners.

THE secret service of the Treasury Department has discovered a new counterfeit $2 United States silver certificate. The counterfeit is of the series of 1891, W. S. Rosecrans, register, E. H. Nebeker, treasurer, with a portrait of William Windom and a small scalloped seal. The note appears to have been printed from a wood-cut plate. The treasury numbers are heavier than the genuine, poorly formed and are green instead of blue.

THE INEBRIATE LAW SUSTAINED.—Judge Dennis, of Maryland, sustained the inebriate law passed at the last session of the Legislature by signing a decree overruling and dismissing the motion of the city to dismiss the petition of a habitual drunkard who wished to be treated under the act. No opinion giving the reasons for his action was filed by Judge Dennis. The case was a test one to determine the validity of the law. It was argued on July 3, and will probably reach the Court of Appeals, as the city will refuse to pay the $100 for the treatment of the drunkard, as provided by the law.

Prendergast Hanged.—For the cold-blooded murder of Mayor Carter Harrison, nearly nine months ago, Patrick Eugene Prendergast died on the scaffold in the Cook County jail in Chicago last Friday. The assassin had hoped nearly to the last for interposition from some source or another, although he knew that all efforts in both State and Federal Courts and the Executive chamber had been exhausted. When it came to the end he nerved himself for a supreme effort, and paid the penalty of his crime without a whimper and without a word.

THE COMPILER will be sent to any address during the Campaign for 50 cents cash.

THE STRIKE.

General Resume of Losses in Men and Property.

Debs an Ambition Schemer.

Since affairs in Chicago have quieted down and railroad and other business is in normal conditions, much has been said about the amount of losses.

All the general managers can say at present is that they have insufficient data to hazard an opinion that could be relied upon. Urged to make a guess one of them on Sunday said the losses of the roads would reach at least $5,000,000 and might go as high as $8,000,000.

It will probably be many weeks before the managers can secure figures for a detailed report. Many things must be taken into consideration. The loss occasioned by suspended traffic will be the item, but the destruction of property will be by no means small.

HUNDREDS OF CARS DESTROYED.

Nearly 600 Pan Handle cars were destroyed in one blaze and of this number us are known to have contained merchandise. It will be necessary to learn from the shippers invoices what those 98 cars contained before any computation of loss can be made, and that will take much time.

Within the city limits tower houses have been burned and tracks torn up. Damage has been done in many railroad shops and enormous sums expended in defending the roads against rioters.

General Manager St. John, of the Rock Island road, said that the total loss to his company ever their entire line would probably be not far from $1,000,000.

Counsel for many of the railroads are already at work drawing up claims for financial redress from Cook County and the city of Chicago, but figures are hard to get at. Concerted action on this line will be taken by the general managers at an early date.

During the strike 10 lives were lost in Chicago and vicinity, including Hammond, and 40 other persons are known to have been wounded. Ten railroad accidents occurred, probably chargeable to the incompetence of green men employed to take the place of strikers. Two lives were lost and four persons injured in these.

At least nine, and probably ten, lives have been lost throughout the West outside of Chicago. Four of these—three soldiers and an engineer—were by the intentional wrecking of a train at Sacramento. Col. Two rioters were killed there later by the troops.

Two men were killed at Spring Valley, Ill., by the fire of soldiers, and it is thought a third victim was buried secretly. A non-union switchman killed a union man at Minneapolis, Minn., on Friday last.

Clerks in the office of United States Marshal Arnold have been busily engaged in tabulating the total of deputies to whom the oath had been administered since the inauguration of the trouble. Marshal Arnold was suprised when the last of the stubs with the seal attached was numbered 3,402.

"That is a small army in itself," he said, "and big enough for any ordinary trouble."

Of this number 2,006 were railroad men, watchmen, and others sworn in as special deputies at the request of the various railroad companies and on whose account no expense will be charged to the Government. This leaves about 1,400 men to be paid at the rate of $2.50 per day and expenses and for terms of service ranging from six to seventeen days.

The total cost of the service rendered from the Marshal's office has not yet been calculated.

There is no truth in the report that the American Railway Union is bankrupt. Instead, the organization is in a flourishing condition financially. A prominent officer of the Union made an estimate of the running expenses of the office force at $400 a week. The largest telegraph bill for one day was $500, and the association has been accumulating money for over a year.

For the month of June the receipts at headquarters for dues alone were over $10,000. One day's receipts for the dues this month footed up nearly $1,000. As the local lodges cover the incidental expenses and the general assessment is coming in at the rate of $5,000 a week, the officers of the order say they are in a better condition than ever to proceed with the strike.

District Attorney Milchrist said on Sunday that the contempt proceedings against Debs and other officers of the Railway Union would probably not begin in the United States Circuit Court until Judge Grossup returns to the city the last of the week.

YESTERDAY.

A caisson of Battery F, Second Artillery, U. S. A., exploded with terrific force shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Grand and Oakwood Boulevards, Chicago. Two artillerymen and one sweeper were instantly killed and nearly a score of other persons—troops, residents in the vicinity and passers-by—were injured. Great damage was wrought by the explosion to neighboring property. Windows in most of the surrounding houses were blown out and the damage to residence and park property in the neighborhood of the accident is estimated at about $10,000. The force of the explosion can be more readily understood when it is remembered that the 132 cartridges contained 395 pounds of powder.

DEBS NOT INSANE.

Eugene V. Debs is not insane, nor at all likely to become so, says a New York Times article of Sunday. He has a cool head, a firm purpose and great self-reliance.

That he has indulged in much drinking of liquor in late years is quite true, but he is not a drunkard to the extent of insanity. The probable friend who first suggested to the public this insanity possibility may have rendered him a service, however. It may have some weight at his trial. But he is no more insane than are labor agitators, Socialists and all that sort of visionaries.

To a friend who has always known him and his methods this new idea about his insanity suggests one of Debs' own shrewd ways of preparing a loophole to escape from possible penalties. He is keen in planning, and this fact is well known to all the leaders of the labor union who have come in contact with him. He has surpassed all easily.

Scheming has been his study for 20 years, and he has learned it well. He has always controlled his associates. His position as a labor leader has brought him into frequent contact, more or less intimate, with people of high reputation and standing.

Seventeen years ago Debs, then 20 years of age, confidently asserted to a friend,

"Well, I will be one of the biggest men in this country one of these days—you just wait and see."

THE York county Republican convention will meet on Tuesday, July 24th.

A HORSE kicked H. S. Shafer, of the Freemyer House, Middleburg, N. Y., on the knee, which laid him up in bed and caused the knee joint too become stiff. A friend recommended him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which he did, and in two days was able to be around. Mr. Shafer has recommended it to many others and says it is excellent for any kind of a bruise or sprain. This same Remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by J. M. Huber.

THE York Street Railway Company has declared a dividend of 2½ per cent.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

A Word to the Alumni.

From the Lutheran Observer.

The Building Committee desire to place in the chapel of the new edifice, now in process of erection, Memorial Windows to all the former professors. They deem this a proper recognition of the labors of the devoted men who toiled in the planting and earlier up-building of the Seminary. They believe that such memorials of the service given to the institution in the past should appear and be made permanent in the new building. And it seems to them eminently fitting that these memorial windows should be placed there by the former students. The committee do not doubt that this proposition will meet the hearty approval of the alumni, and that they will be glad to have the opportunity to carry it into immediate and full effect.

The architect has arranged for eight stained-glass memorial windows of proper artistic style and harmonized together, to cost each $100. They are made to agree with the architecture and finish of the chapel and with each other. The figures of some of them are drawn from New Testament incidents, while others embody suggestions of different spheres of human effort which Christianity has employed in its service, as Music, Literature, Art, Architecture, Astronomy, etc.

The plan includes the names of the six former professors, viz., Dr. S. S. Schmucker, Dr. C. Philip Krauth, Dr. Charles F. Schaeffer, Dr. James A. Brown, Dr. Charles A. Stork, and Dr. C. A. Hay. There are, for instance, enough of Dr. Schmucker's pupils still living to contribute a window to his name. A sufficient number of Dr. Krauth's former pupils survive to inscribe a window to his memory. So with respect to Drs. Schaeffer, Brown, Stork and Hay. By contributions of $5 or $5 or $10 the former students can easily and quickly accomplish the work and make up the requisite amount. The memorial to each professor will be marked as erected by his "former pupils." If any of the alumni are not able to give the above amounts, let them contribute what they can. It is desirable to have all the living alumni participate in these testimonials. No one will want to fail to have part in them. Many will wish to contribute to several.

The Building Committee hereby ask of the alumni a prompt carrying out of this eminently proper plan. The appeal is to every alumnus. Let each one at once decide for which window or window he will give his contributions, and send it on to the chairman of the committee by check or postal money-order, naming at the same time the professor or professors for whose memorial it is intended.

A careful account of the contributions, with the names of the contributors and the particular memorial window, will be made and preserved in the records of the Seminary.

Chairman of Building Committee.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Gov. McKinley Welcomes the Great Convention to Cleveland.

The thirteenth annual International Convention of the United Society of Christian Endeavor began Thursday last in the great Semperfast Hall, in Cleveland, Ohio, which was crowded with 10,000 people, and as many more attended the overflow meeting in an immense tent. The Baltimore delegation, which had such bright hopes of securing the convention of 1896, were disappointed when the Rev. Dr. Hill, of Salem, Mass., made the official announcement that Washington was the successful competitor for the honor of the meeting-place that year. It is the rule of the body to select the place of meeting two years in advance. San Francisco will entertain the convention in 1895.

After an address of welcome by Rev. J. Z. Tailor, chairman of the Local Committee, Governor McKinley gave a greeting in behalf of the State. He said that he was glad to welcome the representatives of the Christian endeavor movement because Christian endeavor stood for Christian manhood, and Christian manhood was at a premium in these days.

Secretary John W. Baer, in his annual report, said the society had gained 7,383 companies during the year, or more than in the first eight years of its history. England has made the largest relative increase in numbers.

In the United States division there are now 28,029 companies. Pennsylvania leads the roll with 3,458 companies, against 3,329 in New York. Among the denominations represented the Presbyterians are the most numerous, having 6,052 companies. The Congregationalists have 5,488 and the Baptists 3,240.

Philadelphia has the most companies of any city, her total being 409. Chicago has 364 and New York 203. The Quaker City wins the banner for founding the most companies during the year. In all 183,650 members have joined the churches since the last convention.

The Convention managers were filled with enthusiasm over the unexpected success of the meeting in point of numbers. Evidently the people have recovered from their panic over the railway strike and are coming to Cleveland as rapidly as the railroads can carry them. The number in the city was variously estimated at from 25,000 to 30,000.

The convention closed Sunday night. It has been the greatest convention ever held by the society, both in points of numbers and in the interest manifested in its meeting. The total registration reached 40,000 of which 18,700 came from points outside of Ohio. Among the movements started at the gathering are plans for a world wide union of Christian Endeavor and for systematic missionary extension.

THE Grangers' Pic-Nic will be held at Williams' Grove Aug. 27th to Sept. 1st. It is going to be a great success as usual.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

LAST June Dick Crawford brought his twelve-months-old child, suffering from infantile diarrhœa, to me. It had been weaned at four months old and had always been sickly. I gave it the usual treatment in such cases but without benefit. The child kept on growing thinner until it weighed but little more than when born, or perhaps ten pounds. I then started the father to giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. Before one bottle of the 25 cent size had been used a marked improvement was seen and its continued use cured the child. Its weakness and puny constitution disappeared and its father and myself believe the child's life was saved by this Remedy.—J. T. MCGUIRE, M. D., Tamaqua, Pa. For sale by J. M. Huber.

As she lay by the fire with Dolly.

Yet you always look rosy and jolly.

"Pray tell me, dear grandma, the reason of this"

Why you always look healthy and sprightely,

Why you never are pale when you give me a kiss,

Why you take such long walks morn and nightly!"

A bottle of Pierce's Prescription"

WHILE bathing in Forney's dam, at Reading, Tuesday afternoon, Eddie and Patrick Troy, brothers, aged 12 and 14 respectively, were drowned.

THE PUZZLE SOLVED.—Perhaps no local disease has puzzled and baffled the medical profession more than nasal catarrh. While not immediately fatal it is among the most nauseous and disgusting ills the flesh is heir to, and the records show very few or no cases of radical cure of chronic catarrh by any of the many modes of treatment until the introduction of Ely's Cream Balm a few years ago. The success of this preparation has been most gartifying and surprising. No druggist is without it.

SICKLES AND GETTYSBURG.

He Proposes to Make it a National Park and a Military Post

It is said that General Sickles, is about to introduce in the House a bill having for its object the establishment of a National Park Military Post and Soldiers Home at Gettysburg It is reported that he said "We have material at Gettysburg for not only a National Park on a grand scale but also a Military Post and a National Soldiers Home But this has never been organized We have something like 400 or 400 monuments there and a good deal of land My plan includes still more land We have the money appropriated essentially for the project, and all my bill aims to do is to give it form and organization When carried out, we will have a Military or Artillery Post there so that the morning and evening guns will forever salute the victorious flag on that consecrated field where sleep so many patriots in the "bivouac of the dead" I have been many months in studying up some unique features of the plan both as regards artistic and patriotic effects, and I promise you that when my ideas are carried out there will be nothing of the kind in the world

"Besides this we hope to have a National Soldiers Home there one of these days on a spot that will be most appropriate for old soldiers in permitting them to spend their declining years among the hallowed associations of their soldier lives, and among scenes that are essentially historic in our country's annals With companies of soldiers especially artillery the place would take on an added glory and significance for Gettysburg was the battlefield that decided the issues of the great war, and made us a homogeneous people with a flag proclaiming to the world Union and Liberty, now and forever, one and inseparable."

FOR AN ELECTRIC ROAD.

From Reisterstown to Westminster thence to Gettysburg

Since the announcement in the Herald last week of the probability of Westminster having an electric road to Baltimore by the extension of the electric road of the Baltimore Traction Company from Reisterstown to Westminster and ultimately to Gettysburg and Washington an effort is being made to secure the following subscriptions of their subscribers, which is now complete, and will be presented to the Baltimore Traction Company from Reisterstown to this city much interest has been manifested The interest culminated on a call for a meeting on Thursday evening at the Bank rupt House of Wm B Thomas which was attended by a number of representative citizens

The meeting was presided over by Dr Herbert Shriver and Charles H Yardley and was a success Both of these selected accounts of interviews they had had with Governor Brown President of the Baltimore Traction Company in relation to the extension of the company's electric road from Reisterstown to Westminster the substance of which was that the line would be extended to this city if the citizens here and along the line manifested sufficient interest in having it

After conference of the citizens of Westminster, held this (Thursday) evening, July 12 to consider the extension of the Baltimore Traction Company's electric line from Reisterstown to Westminster and ultimately to Gettysburg and Washington after a full and free discussion of the matter it was resolved that rapid transit would be of great benefit to this city and vicinity and a committee appointed to confer with Gov Frank Brown the President of the Baltimore Traction Company upon the matter of extension of the electric line to this city —Westminster Herald

We have very good authority for the statement that a meeting is being arranged for between Gov Brown Mr Shriver and Mr Hoffer for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of running the line to Gettysburg The proposition will be that the Baltimore Company and Hoffer to run his line to connect at that place It is also stated that Mr Hoffer will not be prepared to make any contracts of any kind until after the pending condemnation proceedings are settled

The New Clover.

CRIMSON CLOVER DEEMED OF GREAT VALUE IN MANY SECTIONS

Within the past five years there has been quite a revolution in methods of farming due to the innovation of scarlet (or crimson) clover in some section, and its advantages cannot easily be estimated. Red clover, as is well known, is biennial. The seed is sown in the spring on wheat or some other shading crop the land being occupied by it until the following summer, when it is moved for hay, the second growth being for the production of seed. Crimson clover is an annual, the seed being sown in August or even as late as September, and the crop moved in May or June The advantage of this is that while the red clover must be seeded down early in the spring, and on certain plots of ground, the crimson variety may be seeded on nearly all kinds of soils, and on wheat corn, rye, or oats land after the grain crop has been removed It also gives a surer "catch," and may be reseeded should the plants be thin, and as it starts off early in the spring it may be mowed and gotten out of the way early for another crop of some kind

CRIMSON CLOVER ON LIGHT SOILS

Crimson clover, though belonging to the legumes, is better adapted to light soils than is the red While it gives the best results on rich land, and especially on well prepared soil, yet this season has demonstrated that it will grow almost anywhere unless in pure white sand, but on light, sandy soil that has been limed, or given an application of wood ashes, it has produced crops where a growth of red clover would be impossible It produces from one to three tons of hay per acre, according to the soil, and on rich land even more From 10 to 15 quarts of seed per acre may be sown and it is advisable to use plenty of seed It has excellent qualities as hay, and is more easily cured without damage from dews or dampness than the red It is not superior to the red, but may be grown where the red variety will fail, and as it is an excellent green manurial crop, its value in that respect is great It may be seeded down when other work is nearly over and is out of the way in spring to permit of the most important crops to be attended to.

REVOLUTION IN FARMING

In Delaware, Maryland, Eastern Virginia and portions of Pennsylvania and New Jersey farmers are preparing for large crops this fall It may be seeded down on wheat stubble land or on corn after the last working of the crop While tarrying best if sown on prepared land yet crops were grown this year on land that was in corn last year, the crimson turned under, and the land put in corn or potatoes this year It is a "nitrogen gatherer," and serves to enrich the soil The lands that have been devoted to peach orchards which have been injured are being sown in crimson clover and cattle, sheep and hogs are receiving attention in sections that formerly were not profitable stock farms The greatest advantage of crimson clover is that it will produce a crop of green manure in time to be turned under for corn or the hay may be secured and the stubble plowed under It is ready to be mowed by the middle of May, thus being out of the way for corn before June. Such a forage plant, being a legume and which can occupy the land after corn is taken off, and which comes so quickly in the spring, is sure to revolutionize the methods now in vogue on farms that have only light sandy soils

Lime on Stubble Land

THE TREATMENT OF WHEAT FIELDS AFTER HARVEST.

The wheat harvest is the busy season of the summer, and the land on which the wheat is grown receives but little consideration after the crop is removed The same may be said of the corn land As clover is usually seeded on wheat the removal of the wheat crop gives the clover the possession of the land until next season, but if the clover does not make a good stand, and is not worth retaining, weeds will grow and produce seeds, especially if the clover seed used was not clean Some farmers turn sheep on such stubble fields, but after the sheep have worked over the field the land should be plowed to start the seeds of weeds, and may even be plowed again with benefit if the weeds are very thick If the work is done thoroughly there will be no weeds to kill off next year, and the land will be in better condition for corn

USE LIME NOW

By plowing under a crop of weeds and applying about 20 bushels of lime per acre on the surface of the land there will be a more rapid formation of humus in the soil, as the lime assists in this formation by its chemical action and it is to the assistance of lime in the gaining and storing of nitrogen in the soil that the beneficial effects of lime are so noticeable long after its use. Even on limestone soils the application of freshly slacked lime proves beneficial, as it possesses alkaline properties which differ from the insoluble carbonate of lime existing in limestone soils When the stubble field is plowed under the lime is being applied on the surface, the rains will carry the lime downward, and, as its effects are slow, the lime is given more time from now until spring It is better to apply the lime at time of plowing, and it is also better to plow during the summer in order to kill off the weeds on the land

WEEDS ON COLN LAND

The same may be said of the land now in corn Take off the corn and plow it. No corn crop is so thoroughly worked as to have all the grass and weeds destroyed It is true that but few weeds may be seen and the land may appear apparently clean, but only a few weeds are sufficient to seed down a new crop for next year, thus entailing the labor of their extermination at a time when work is pressing. The late plowing permits the frost to go down into the soil and assist in reducing it, while breaking up the soil hastens the decomposition of materials left in the cornfield. It is when the grass and weeds are green that they decompose quickly, as they are then largely composed of water, but when dry they sometimes remain undecomposed for a long time. Lime not only hastens the process of decomposition, but is of itself food for plants and assists in promoting growth It is from the stubble field that weeds are mostly spread, and this should never be allowed.

THE first thing to remember about scarlet clover is that it is an annual—that is, when it once produces seed there is an end of that plant. It is like corn or wheat in this respect—not like timothy, which will yield crop after crop of seed and still grow. Scarlet clover may, however, says Rural New Yorker, be sowed in the spring and clipped or pastured in the fall before the heads form. If then kept through the winter, it will yield a crop of seed the next year That really means two crops from it.

BEAUTY AND METHOD

HERE ARE SOME GOOD IDEAS AND RECEIPTS HERE FOR THE LADIES

THE prevailing characteristic of woman, the one in which she most differs from men, is her keen appreciation of neatness and beauty, This appreciation is not simply a matter of taste but of great utility since it has taught women how to arrange things neatly and keep them so, how to make things beautiful She has learned that slip-shod ways cause untidyness and negligences, and that method and system are the same means, the only means indeed, which she can keep her household affairs in good order

A room is kept orderly by arranging it orderly A room is kept clean and neat by regularly cleaning it A dress lasts long and always looks nice by orderly taking care of it A garden is kept neat and beautiful by regular care Flowers must not be neglected.

Women, who have experience, make the best of financiers because they save systematically not spasmodically So it is that the majority of women succeed far better than men in what they do Woman's place in nature is to use the instincts which nature has given her, to cause the beautiful, and preserve it, to use her keen sensibilities in appreciating charity pity and mercy, to teach her brother the ways of patience, forbearance, a use of the beautiful and to please him, if she can, with tidy appearance, a neat home, and the systematic behavior of a lady Woman is out of place in the wear and tare of money making, but in place in taking care of the home. She can teach man much, if she will, though he may not be willing to acknowlege it, in the way of system

WHEN milk is used in tumblers wash them first in cold water afterward rinse in hot water

A LITTLE flour dredged over a cake before icing it will keep the icing from spreading and running off

TRY mending gloves with cotton instead of silk

A DROP of oil and a feather will do away with the creaking in a door or creaking chair

BORAX is at once the most effectual and harmless cleansing agent for laundry purposes

AMMONIA, pearline, sapolio and various other cleansing agents are just as efficacious and economical in the kitchen is borax in the laundry

FLATIRONS will not yellow linen if they are first rubber on a cloth saturated with kerosene

NOTHING will give such a polish to glass, even the finest, as slightly moist newspaper to wash it, and dry newspaper to give the finishing touches

To cleanse glass bottles that have held oil, place ashes in each bottle and immerse in cold water, than heat the water gradually until it boils, after boiling an hour let them remain till cold Then wash the bottles in soapsuds and rinse in clear water

STEEL knives or other articles which have become rusty should be rubbed with a little sweet oil, then left for a day or two in a dry place, and then rubbed with finely powdered, unslacked lime until every vestige of the rust has disappeared, and kept in a dry place wrapped up in a bit of flannel

CHOCOLATE CAKE —One cup of sugar, half a cup of butter, half a cup of milk, two cups of flour, two eggs, two teaspoonfuls baking powder Grate a little less than one half cake of Baker's chocolate, add one-half cup of sugar, one-half cup of milk and the yolk of one egg Boil in a double boiler (as it burns easily) till it thickens, and then stir it into the cake mixture, add last one te spoonful of vanilla Frost it or not, as you please

TO MIX MUSTARD —Mix mustard with water that has been boiled and allowed to cool hot water destroys its essential properties Put the mustard in a cup with a small pinch of salt, and mix with it very gradually sufficient boiled water to make it drop from the spoon without being watery Stir and rub smooth, then add to a teacupful of the mustard two tablespoonfuls of good, sharp vinegar and a scant teaspoonful of sugar A teaspoonful of horse-radish or tarragon vinegar may be added to the above if liked, or mustard may be flavored with celery of shallots, through it is not customary in this country to add any flavoring to mustard, the flavor of the mustard itself being considered sufficient

CANNED CORN —Pick the corn as soon as it is right for table use, do not allow any delay in the matter Husk and remove every particle of the silk Then cut the corn from the cob with a sharp knife, taking care not to cut too near the cob, scrape out the milk, pack the corn in glass cans, pressing it in as firmly as possible with a wooden pestle—do this very thoroughly—fill the cans full to the brim, and screw on the covers as tight as you can Put a thin layer of hay or straw into a large kettle or boiler, lay the cans on it in any position, over these put a layer of the straw, fill the vessel in this order, cover with cold water, put on the range and boil for three hours Let the cans remain in the water until cold, then remove them, tighten the covers, and set in a cool dry place Two or three thicknesses of cloth may be put under and between the cans if preferred, but they must not be allowed to touch each other while boiling for fear of breaking them

MILK BISCUIT —Put one quart of sifted flour into a bowl, add to it a heaping tablespoonful of butter or lard rub well together with the hands until the flour is thoroughly greased, add two teaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a teaspoonful of salt, and sufficient milk to make a soft dough (about half a pint), mix and knead quickly Roll out about half an inch thick, cut with a small round cutter, place two inches apart in greased pans and bake in a quick oven 15 or 20 minutes These biscuits should be a delicate brown top and bottom, light on the sides and snowy white when broken open.

BLACKBERRY BRANDY —Blackberry brandy, which is a famous old-time preparation, is put up in many families purely as a medicine, its efficacy being generally acknowledged Put about four quarts of blackberries into a stone jar and set the jar in a pot of warm water over the fire Let the water boil for half an hour At the end of this time strain the berries, pressing out all the juice, add half a pound of sugar to every pint of juice, and to every two pounds of sugar used half an ounce each of powdered cinnamon, powdered allspice and nutmeg Let the mixture boil for two hours Add half a pint of pure French brandy to every quart of juice used in the preparation. Bottle the mixture and set away for about three months to become mellowed It will keep for years, and that which is to be used one summer should be prepared the summer before
